Dr. Woelfkin's Name Very Prominently Before the First Church Committee.

JOHNSON'S SERMON

Says Good Men Should Enter Politics and Keep It Clean. Other News.

The Pulpit Committee of the First Baped without taking a decisive vote in the matter of electing a pastor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the George Cooper, D. D. It is learned that contrary to what was at first supposed, many of the inner circle expected some developments at the Sunday meeting. This is of particular interest since it has been repeatedly stated that months might pass before action was taken. When the question was put on Sunday, however, it was found that a majority of the committee were not quite prepared at that time.

It is almost impossible to learn with any definiteness what direction the considerations of the committee are taking, but it is known that the list of eligible men has narrowed down to two or three, land that of these, the Rev. Dr. Cornellus Woelfkin, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is perhaps the most prominent Dr. Woelfkin is exceedingly popular in the church, and his name stands high up on the list, very probably at the top. The recommendation that a call be extended to the Brooklyn minister would doubtless prove acceptable to the congregation. There is reason to believe further that such a call would be given the serious consideration by Dr. Woelfkin himself. siderations of the committee are taking

Religion and Politics.

"Daniel, or Religion in Political Life," was the theme on which the Rev. Dr.
Henry E. Johnson preached last Sunday night to an immense congregation at Laurel Sirrett Methodist Church.

In prafacing his remarks he said that he was not in favor with the false-notion of some people that good men should keep out of politics, but said that to make politics clean and pure, men of good religious character should enter the political arena and instill into the hearts of the politicians honesty and a fair dealing with their fellow associates. "If you keep out the good men," said Dr. Johnson, "the devil will have full sway and run things to suit himself." The Doctor said that such men stood for principle and could not be bought for filthy lucre by corporations, and men who worked for their own sellish ends.

"Be a man like Daniel," continued the speaker. Reared among all that was pure and hely, he did not swerve an inch from that which was right, though he faced death several times. He held offices of great responsibility with the government, and was the right arm of the king in government affairs. To have done wrong, Daniel would have forfeited his principle and had the displeasure affa God upon him. He would not defile himself in any way. To have stepped aside from the path of duty would have brought upon him great honors and high offices. But his sole purpose was to please God and not men. He cared little for the applause of the world. He preferred to please God and have a good conscience.

Dr. Johnson said that if our political life. In closing the Doctor exhorted the young men present to be strong.

Negro Is Supposed to Have Found Hidden Treasures.

The negro laborer, who found a mysterious looking jar, supposed to have contained hidden treasures, while at work on Graham and Marshall Streets, Saturday, has not been located, and hence it is not known what the jar contained. At the time the jar was found, several coins of ante-bellum vintage were also found, and the find caused some little oxcliement among the workmen and those in the neighborhood.

It is thought that the coins were placed there by parties who lived in the house

CASES DECIDED IN U.S. APPEALS COURT

Opinions Handed Down by Judges of Circuit Court of Appeals.

In the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday the following opinions were handed down;

William F. Stone, collector, appellant, vs. Wiltridge, White and Company, appellees. Appeal from the Circuit Court at Builtmore. Affirmed. Opinion by Judge pellees. Appeal from the Circuit Court at Baltimore. Affirmed. Opinion by Judge Boyd.

The facts in this case are as follows: In June, 1990, the appellees imported from India into the port of Baltimare, Md., a cargo of gunny bagging. The gunnels were nurchased by the importers at Calcutta, and were invoiced in rupees, which is a silver coin of India. The collector at Baltimore liquidated the duty on the said goods by converting into United States gold dollars the rupees of the invoices at the rate of thirty-two conts for each rupee. To this liquidation the importers entered a protest on the ground that the basis used in reaching the value of the rupee was the exchange or commercial value of the coin when the metalle value should have been used. The contention of the appellees was uplied by this court, and in the future the collector must reckon the value of this coin by its metalic value and not by the commercial or exchange value.

LOCAL BASE-BALL. Good Talent Already Secured

by Manager Munn.

by Manager Munn.

The outlook for first-class semi-professional base-ball here this summer is fine. Manager Jim Munn has arranged for the placing of a good team here to make one of a local league, to be made up of teams from the East End, West End, Northside and Manchester.

Richmond has sent out many good ball-players and this season may prove no exception. The players that turn out all right will be put on line to the big league, and every effort will be made to place them next season, so that the little local leagues may be the means of developing some good players.

Among the names under consideration by Manager Munn's captain, Dailey, are: Elimore, Bowers, Hulelier, Sharp, Jones, Eache, McEvoy, Morgan, Cheatham, and Smith.

This team will play with the Montreal club, of the Eastern League, during the training season.

It is too late for the regular public debate, but it will probably furnish a subject for the Wake Forest debate next Thanks-giving day. The society also decided to challenge Wake Forest at once, so as to have the question selected before the session closes, thus allowing contestants ample time for preparation.

A committee was appointed at the last receiting of the Mu Sigma Rho Society to select judges and make arrangements for the craterial contest which comes off the fourth Friday night in this month. The subjects of the orations have not been announced, but it is understood that among the contestants will be Messrs. Willis, Freeman and Lankford, of the Mu Sigma Rho Society, and Thraves, Jenkins and Powell, of the Philologin. The co-ods of Richmond College assembled at the residence of President Boutwright last Friday for the purpose or organizing a literary society. The idea was enthusiasily received, and, steps were taken for its immediate organization. The society will consist of all the co-eds now in college and all alumni will be made members. to be Calm Before the Storm.

While there is much activity in real estate talk there were no transactions of moment yesterday, and several well informed dealers and onlookers predict that there will be no startling deals this week. A number of deals of considerable proportions are in the embrye state, but it may be a week or more before an authoritative announcements can be made concerning them.

The auction sale of eight lots in Lee District along Grové Avenue and Strawberry, Street at 5:30 o'clock this afternoom will attract the attention of a number of home-weekers. Aside from this nothing is booked for this week that will create a stir.

The dealers have plenty inquirers and they know they are now enjoying only a calm that precedes a storm of business when weather conditions are more favorable and spring hustling begins in carnest.
